BEST WISHES TO REV. COFFEY

After serving four faithful years as pastor of the Memorial Methodist church, the Rev. G. D. Coffey has been transferred to Prospect. An enlightening and fascinating speaker, a devout and Christian citizen, an able and popular pastor, Rev. Coffey made countless friends while in Appomattox, and it is with sincere regret that we part with him at Appomattox. However, we are glad to know that at Prospect, his new appointment he will be nearby.

We wish him all success in his new field of endeavor and assure the good Methodists at Prospect that they are securing an able susccessor to our old friend, Rev. T. J. C. Heath.

VOTE THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET

Appomattox and Buckingham Democrats will be proud of the opportunity next Tuesday to cast a large vote of confidence to the Democratic administration in Virginia. No section of Virginia is more steeped in the tradition of the Democratic party than this area and usually a high-water mark of Democratic majority is set here.

The Times-Virginian urges its readers to vote. Representive government is tested on election day. No sect can hurl the epitaphs of autocratic government, machine or clique where the voters express their sovereign right to vote on election day. The measure of Democracy is in direct ratio to the size of the vote.

We feel that the preference for Peery-Byrd-Price-Saunders and Terrell is clear in the coming state election. The Byrd and Pollard administrations are high-lights in Virginia history. The tradition will be carried out by Peery. Democracy has a fine record in Virginia, a fine ticket, a fine program and a fine prospect. Show your appreciation of that condition by giving a large confidence ballot.

BETTER BACK THIS

The Times-Virginian has heard rumors, entirely unofficial, that there is a possibility that tobacco markets in the dark belt may open a few days this month and then close forthwith until the first of January. This rumor, unsubstanciated as it is, nevertheless merits attention.

Pressure must be exerted to prevent any such procedure. Similiar action was taken in the bright belt and upon reopening of the markets better prices resulted and farmers in that area are now well pleased with prices on their offerings. However, that in itself does not justify a like action in the dark belt.

It will be unfair to deprive farmers in this section of the chance to sell their chief money crop until after Christmas. Their taxes must be paid before the first of the year. Their Christmas shopping must not be prevented. Their children in school need clothing, books, etc., that tobacco money must procure. Their fertilizer and store bills must be given attention before a new yaer arrives. A hundred accumulated items of purchase and transaction await the spark of tobacco money. The life of the countryside will be irreparably curtailed if the markets fail to keep open until after Christmas.

We take for granted that the government will stress parity prices for dark tobacco as it did for bright tobacco. That may take time, but not until after Christmas. Don't wait until the date for market opening arrives before getting the machinery for parity prices in action.

Give the framers, the farmer's family, the school children, the merchant, rural business, and the entire group that depends upon tobacco sales as a vital essential to living . . . a break! Open the markets on time, pay fair prices and keep the markets open!

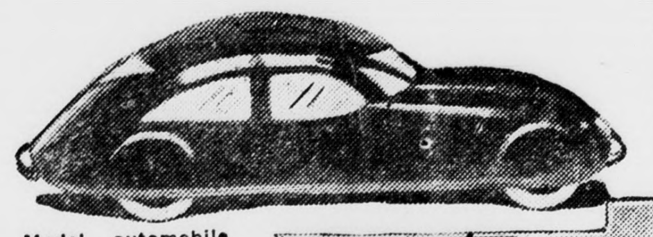
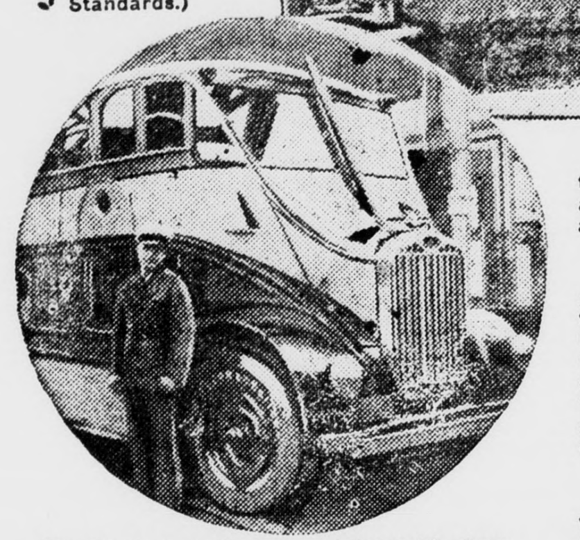
Hollywood Approves New Streamline Designs



Model automobile tested by the U. S. Bureau of Standards, which proved to have much less air and wind resistance than models of the cars currently produced. Notice elimination of fenders, the sinking of wheels in the body. (U. S. Bureau of Standards.)

(Below) View snapped in Hollywood of one of the new stream-lined cars which engineers say will soon make all the square-toppers obsolete. Notice particularly the comparative shortness of the nose, when measured with the total length of the tonneau. Long noses will soon cease to be a sign of speed or power. And Hollywood approves the smartness, as who wouldn't? (R.K.O.)



The blunt nose of a new autobus with sleeping accommodations, designed for California highways. (Herbert)

People who know, including alike the scientists, the designers, and the world of smart fashion, are all predicting the near approach of streamlining in automobiles.

Streamlining has been used in airplanes for several years: the present top speeds of the trans-continental transports—and also the low fares—have only been made possible by 100 per cent streamlining which reduced wind resistance, hence cut power consumption, increased speed and riding comfort. The railroads are now seizing on this new science, and several lines promise stream-lined trains to travel 100 miles an hour.

Automobiles have joined the processior. Few cars will soon be seen with blunt noses, sloping tonneaus, wheels buried in the body. Long noses will soon be only a sign of the old fashioned wind-fighters, which labored to push the air as a mole does the earth.

SO WHAT?

Getting out a paper is no picnic.
If we print jokes, people say we are silly;
If we don't, they say we are too serious.
If we clip from other papers,
We are too lazy to write it down ourselves;
If we don't, we are stuck on our own stuff.
If we stick to the job all day,
We ought to be out hunting up news.
If we do get out and try to hustle,
We ought to be on the job in the office.
If we don't print contributions
We don't appreciate true genius;
If we do the paper is filled with junk.
If we make a change in a fellow's write-up,
We are too critical;
If we don't, we are asleep.
Now, like as not someone will say

THE RAILROADS AND BUSINESS RECOVERY

THE railroads are playing a vital part in business recovery because they are the nation's largest buyers and they are today "in the market" for materials and supplies of every description.

A few years ago the railroads of the country purchased American products at the rate of approximately $1,339,000,000 annually. They normally support 4,000 mills and factories which supply their needs. Ordinarily they purchase 25 per cent of all the coal produced in the United States, 20 per cent of the timber cut, 19 per cent of the fuel oil, and 17 per cent of the iron and steel output. In addition, they spend hundreds of millions of dollars with printers, building contractors, newspapers, farmers, public utilities, etc. Millions of persons are engaged in producing the tremendous volume of materials, supplies and other things necessary to railway operation.

In 1932, railroad purchases of materials and supplies had shrunk to $441,500,000, a decrease of nearly a billion dollars since 1929.

The Norfolk and Western Railway—your railroad—as one of the main trunk lines of the country, is an important customer of hundreds of other industries. Under normal conditions, it spends between twenty and twenty-five millions of dollars annually for materials and supplies. In recent years the railroad's purchases have been cut in half.

Thus when the railroads' earnings are good, they are good customers of all industry; when their purchasing power is curtailed, almost every industry's earning power is unfavorably affected.

There are two things that every citizen—you and your neighbor—can do to aid directly in business recovery. First, use railway service for every transportation need the railroads can supply. And second, demand an end to the unfair competition that helps to destroy railway purchasing power.

Home-making Art, New Style

PEOPLE pay thousands of dollars for a view, and then shut it out with heavy draperies. There must have been some rebellion however to account for the popularity of net and lace glass curtains which are so transparent and above all to have suggested Vista curtains.

Vista curtains are made with a tiny invisible cord and tassel, strung through small rings on the back of your net curtain. They pull the curtain back into charming folds when you wish your window completely clear but, however, when more privacy is desired they may be just as easily dropped into place again.

Why Doctors Favor a Liquid Laxative

A doctor will tell you that the careless choice of laxatives is a common cause of chronic constipation.

Any hospital offers evidence of the harm done by harsh laxatives that drain the system, weaken the bowel muscles, and even affect the liver and kidneys.

Fortunately, the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be controlled. It forms no habit; you needn't take a "double dose" a day or two later.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the average person's bowels regular as clockwork in a few weeks' time. Why not try it? Some pill or tablet may be more convenient to carry. But there is little "convenience" in any cathartic which is taken so frequently, you must carry it with you, wherever you go!

Its very taste tells you Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is wholesome. A delightful taste, and delightful action. Safe for expectant mothers, and children. All druggists, ready for use, in big bottles. Member N. R. A.

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

I keep coming back to that word "balanced" on the back of the Chesterfield package

YOU often hear the word balance—something is out of balance—top-heavy, not on an "even keel."

What you read, "Chesterfield Cigarettes are a balanced blend," means that the right amounts of the right kinds of tobacco are welded together; that is, home-grown tobaccos, the right kind, the right quantity—are blended and cross-blended with tobaccos from Turkey and Greece.

When these tobaccos are balanced one against the other, then you have a mild cigarette.

When they are in balance, then you have a better-tasting cigarette.

May we ask you to read again the statement on the back of the Chesterfield package?
May we ask you to try Chesterfield?
